

EXECUTIVE OFFICER—Lt. Col. James H. Kelley, right, is being congratulated by Col. R. B. Currens, Arsenal commander, on his appointment as new executive officer at Joliet Arsenal. Kelley recently returned from a tour of duty in Turkey and previously served as commanding officer of the Nebraska Ordnance Plant at Wahoo, Neb. In World War II he saw service in the Chinese-Burma-India and the European theaters of operations. A native of Washington, D. C., Col. Kelley resides at the Arsenal with his wife, Veronica. Col. Kelley replaces Capt. Myron J. Vestal, who has been assigned to new duties at the Kankakee unit of Joliet Arsenal. (U.S. Army photo.)
